Medair Invest in Aid Foundation

Annual Report 2020

The Medair Invest in Aid Foundation has the objective to support the humanitarian aid activities of the not-for profit NGO Medair by means of fundraising and taking a capital and reserve building approach. From its own assets the foundation then supports Medair financially through regular donations, often yearly. Those donations have the necessary flexibility to respond to some of Medair’s priority needs.

Where does the support of the foundation’s comes from?

The support started with an initial capital of 50 000 swiss francs given by the association Medair, when the Foundation was created. Then the capital of the Foundation has been built up thanks to private donations from generous and faithful donors. Those donations have been significantly completed by legacies received by the Foundation over the years. These are important financial resources for both the Foundation and Medair.

What support was given to the foundation in 2020?

During the year 2020 the foundation received private donations of an amount of 10 500 swiss francs. This income has come from faithful and generous private donors. In 2020 no legacies have been received.

What has been the yearly support from the Foundation to Medair?

The Foundation has the objective to usually give a yearly support to Medair. The last few years this financial support has been of 50 000 CHF per year. This has been the case in 2017 and 2018.

During the year 2019 a special donation of 150 000 CHF has been given to support Medair at the occasion of the 30 years of the humanitarian aid organisation.

During the year 2020, the board of the Foundation decided not to make a new donation to Medair, partly because of the special and large donation already made in 2019.

Who are the members of the board of the foundation?

The Medair’s CEO is by the statutes of the foundation member of the Board. He functions currently as the President. David Sauter, a long serving former Medair staff at the Global Support Office is also member and is the Secretary of the Board.

A number of changes in the Board membership has been implemented in 2020, with one member leaving and two joining. The Finance Director and Executive Office Director of Medair joined the Foundation’s board. More details are available on request.

Three Board members have significant financial and assets management experience.

A big thank you goes to Torsten de Santos who was for many years a member of the Board of the Foundation. He left the Board during the year 2020.

Partner’s banks

The Foundation has the BCV (Vaud Cantonal Bank) as retail bank partner, where cash donations are received, and the operating expenses of the Foundation are managed.

The private Bank Bonhôte, with its main base in Neuchâtel, is the partner bank for all the financial investments of the Foundation.

Future developments of the Foundation

A new stream of resources, to build up the financial assets of the foundation, is planned to be the NGO Medair itself. Medair has the vision and the needs to build up financial reserves over the years in order to gain the necessary independence and flexibility in its humanitarian aid operations. And the Foundation will be one of the means to achieve this goal. Medair is planning, from 2020 onwards, to set aside parts of its reserve at the care of the Medair Invest in Aid Foundation.

Of course, it is hoped that more friends and partners will join Medair and support the Medair Invest in Aid Foundation so that the humanitarian aid provided worldwide by Medair is even better supported with flexible funding and an amount of reserve that strengthen the financial stability and independence of Medair.

A first step of this reserve building strategy has been implemented in November 2020. Medair has transferred a loan of 1 000 000 USD to the Foundation, with an agreed interest rate of 3% per annum, for this first loan. This way of proceeding allows Medair to remain the only full owner of those funds. Those interest rates are first due after three years, that is in 2023.

A big thank you to the donors, friends and supporters of the Medair Invest in Aid Foundation, that enabled the Foundation to pursue its goals and continue to faithfully support Medair and its mission, vision and strategy.
